FLOOD NATURAL DISASTER DECLARATIONS: TAMWORTH WARRUMBUNGLE AND WARREN

Monday, 4 January 2010

Premier Kristina Keneally today announced the NSW Government has extended the declaration of natural disaster areas, with flood-affected residents and primary producers in Tamworth, Warrumbungle and Warren now eligible for financial assistance.

Ms Keneally made the announcement after visiting Coonamble earlier today, where she met SES workers and evacuated residents with Minister for Primary Industries and Emergency Services Steve Whan.

Around 200 kilometres away in Tamworth and the greater Peel District, heavy falls of rain over the past seven days have caused localised flooding in low lying areas and impacted local roads.

“Rivers and estuaries around Tamworth have risen to moderate flood levels causing the evacuation of five houses and twelve caravans from low lying areas within the Nundle Township,” Ms Keneally said.

“The State Government has extended the natural disaster declaration to ensure those affected by these floods have access to financial and other assistance.”

Minister for Primary industries and Emergency Services, Steve Whan said a broad range of assistance is now available for flood-affected residents, primary producers, business owners as well as local councils in Tamworth, Warrumbungle and Warren.

“This includes loans for primary producers of up to $130,000 with a two-year interest and repayment free period and stock transport freight cash subsidies,” Mr Whan said.

Mr Whan once again congratulated the all emergency services for their hard work.

“The SES and other agencies deserve a pat on the back for their efforts, particularly overnight when they arranged for the evacuation of hundreds of people,” Mr Whan said.

“They continue to do a remarkable job in providing assistance to communities affected by these floods.”

* Commonwealth/State Natural Disaster Arrangements

The above Schemes are eligible for Australian Government financial assistance, usually by way of partial reimbursement of actual expenditure, under Australian Government Natural Disaster Relief and Recovery Arrangements. Under the cost sharing formula, NSW pays for the first $111.1 million of natural disaster costs each year, and can claim from the Australian Government half of all eligible Personal Hardship and Distress costs within this first threshold. The Australian Government then matches NSW expenditure for costs between $111.1 million, and $194.4 million and beyond that covers three quarters of all costs.
